

Banksy is very different to most of the artists we learn about. He is a British, street graffiti artist! That means he creates art in public places like on the sides of buildings and train stations. What's even more unusual about him is that nobody knows who he is! He likes to be anonymous and do his painting in secret. He likes to make paintings about things that are going on in the world and you might have seen a few weeks ago he made this picture of a Child playing with a superhero nurse instead of the usual superheroes and donated it to healthcare workers in England.

Graffiti art has a specific style to it, look at these other examples and write your own name in a graffiti style - just do it on a page not a wall!
