About Choices We Make

Read the situations below and answer the questions orally

Sean was serious about football. He trained regularly, sometimes missing out on good times with the gang. Adam had a talent for football but he preferred 'kick about' football with his friends. When Sean was picked for the school team and Adam was dropped, very few people understood why. But later Sean went on to prove himself and thanks to his skills his team went to the top of the league. ▲ What happened to Sean as a result of making the difficult choice? ▲ What might have been the easy choice? ▲ What might the consequence of the easy choice have been? ▲ What influences would have encouraged the easy choice? ▲ Why do you think Sean made the difficult choice?

2 Tom's friends thought he was daft. He sometimes wondered if he was. His Mammy had persuaded him to visit Joe, an elderly neighbour every Saturday afternoon and offer to do some little jobs for him. Saturday afternoon was a time when all his friends got together and played football or went to the cinema. In the beginning Joe was very quiet but was particular that everything was done in a certain way. Tom kept visiting Joe for a few months and they became very good friends. Joe told great stories about when he was a boy. Three years on Tom and Joe are great pals. Joe is a great gardener and has taught Tom a lot about growing plants. Joe also gives him good advice when he is in trouble. ▲ In the beginning Joe was very quiet. What do you think Tom was thinking? ▲ Why do you think Tom decided to keep on doing jobs for Joe? ▲ What would he have missed out on? ▲ If you were Tom what do you think you would do in this situation? ▲ When Tom was doing jobs for Joe, his friends were playing football. How do you think he felt?

3 The life saving course was hard going. A lot of the participants dropped out. The weather was fine and there were other things to do. They were glad Alan stuck with it. Jimmy had particular cause to be glad. When he got into difficulties in the water, Alan knew what to do. At the end of the day, Alan was a hero. ▲ What might have happened if Alan had taken the easy choice? ▲ What might have influenced him? ▲ What might Alan have missed out on by taking the hard choice?

4 Joan and Ellen were twins. When Joan got money she generally spent it quickly. Ellen saved up. Eventually Ellen had enough to buy the really nice jacket she had her eye on. Joan was envious. 'I can't understand it,' she said, 'Where did you get all that money?' ▲ What did Ellen miss out on by saving her money? ▲ What did she gain in the end? ▲ What might have influenced her to make the difficult choice and save her money? ▲ What did

Joan miss out on by spending her money? ▲ What might have influenced her to make the easy choice and spend her money? ▲ Which do you think was the better choice?

5 Alison got the incorrect change when she was in the shop. The shopkeeper thought she had handed in a ten pound note instead of the five pounds she had. So she had five pounds extra in her change. She told him about it and handed the money back. Later when she was looking for a summer job he took her on. 'I know I can trust you,' he said. ▲ What might Alison have done with the five pounds she was given by mistake? ▲ What did she gain by handing in the money? ▲ What might have influenced her to hand in the money? ▲ What would have influenced her to keep the money?
